

Kresge Parliament – 11/01/18

Start: 6:31pm Quorum: 9 Ice Breaker: What would the title of your autobiography be?

Guests: Mike Yamauchi-Gleason – Porter/Kresge Senior Director (formerly CAO)

Q. The Kresge affiliate room selection process seemed to ignore housing points. A. Kathy Cooney (AD) is researching the issue and I have requested an update from her.

Updates: Kresge Redevelopment is in schematics phase, the EIR is set for final approval in March by the Board of Regents. A Kresge info session is scheduled for the Town Hall on Nov 28th. An info web page will go live on 11/12. Video about Kresge is also in the works and includes Ian G. Housing West project has been delayed due to the addition of the east meadow location. It is included because there is little buildable acreage on campus due to underground karsts and cost. The Environmental Impact Report deadline was extended. In January the EIR will be reviewed. More details on the web but current plan included 2800 beds, child care center for 140 and 140 Family Student Housing units with a $750m price tag.

Q. An email went out asking faculty/staff to house students, did that add bed space? A. Mike did not have numbers but will check and let us know.

-EH&S waste station construction got a bit behind in summer, extended work day starting at 6 a.m. to get back on schedule. With our good weather, they are probably back on track.

Q. Sound around Core West parking structure and Porter/Kresge road? A. Suggested calling CSOs, probably from dancing groups/skaters.

Q. Remote parking passes do not guarantee a parking space? A. TAPS oversells parking permits and student permits are only for remote lots. North remote was changed to Fac./Staff parking this year.

Q. Hammocks at Family Student Housing have caught our eye, could we bring to Kresge?

A. Apparently not officially approved by Risk Services, so no.

Pittsburgh shooting: Robert Bowers pleads not guilty. Robert Bowers, the alleged gunman accused of killing 11 Jewish worshippers at a Pittsburgh synagogue on Saturday has pleaded not guilty. Mr. Bowers, 46, has requested a jury trial. He faces 44 counts of murder, hate crimes, obstructing religious practices and other crimes. Prosecutors are seeking the death penalty. US media reported Mr. Bowers entered the courtroom without a wheelchair, bandaged on the arm from the injuries suffered during a shootout with police on Saturday. With a loud "yes!" Mr. Bowers confirmed he had read the indictment and understood the charges against him. He reportedly had no reaction when told he faced the death penalty. During his first court appearance, Mr. Bowers was in a wheelchair and spoke little.

On Wednesday, US prosecutors added a further 15 charges to the 29 Mr. Bowers already faces, making a total of 44. The additional counts against Mr. Bowers were for assaulting police officers and also included special findings to support the case for pursuing the death penalty, US media reported.

According to an affidavit, Mr. Bowers told police immediately after his arrest that "he wanted all Jews to die".

Ex-psychiatric patient suspected of stabbing Cabrillo student APTOS — A former state hospital psychiatric patient with active restraining orders against him by Cabrillo College went to campus Wednesday morning and stabbed a 19-year-old student in unprovoked aggression in the school's cafeteria, authorities said. The 49-year-old man, former Cabrillo student Steven Wooding, has been warning Bay Area authorities and the Sentinel for months about the possibility he could offend again. He never made a clear threat in more than 100 emails and almost 50 frantic voicemails, which the Sentinel reported to police months ago. Wooding was being questioned by Santa Cruz County Sheriff's Office detectives on suspicion of attempted murder, Sgt. Brian Cleveland said. A weapon was gathered at the scene, he said. Wooding previously was in custody at state hospitals after being deemed not sane when he attacked a Cabrillo College teacher in 1994. Wednesday morning's stabbing rattled the Aptos campus with many wondering whether the crime was a Halloween prank in building 900 — the school cafeteria — that was packed by more than 50 people. A teacher told the Sentinel he helped to restrain the man by pinning him on the ground in the crowded dining hall.

Woman Who Claims To Have Had Sex With 20 Ghosts Now Engaged To One - A spirited fling with an Australian ghost has ended up in true love for an Englishwoman. In fact, the ghost just proposed, and she wants the living world to know. Amethyst Realm, 30, of Bristol, says she has had sex with at least 20 ghosts since she was a teenager but wasn't looking for a new relationship when she went to Australia on a business trip. However, she says that changed on a nature hike when she came into contact with an apparition and felt sparks like none she's ever known. Realm didn't think it could amount to anything serious because she says spirits tend to stay in one place, but something amazing happened on her flight home: She felt the presence of her lover on the plane, and apparently not stowed in cargo. "I couldn't believe it. I was happy and excited — so excited that we had to do something about it. So we headed to the plane loo," she told the Sun. "And, well, I am now a member of the Mile High Club." That was nine months ago and things have progressed to the point where Realm discussed her desire to marry and have her ghost's baby on the British show "ITV This Morning" in August. The paranormal proposal reportedly occurred last week when the couple took a road trip to England's Wookey Hole caves, according to the New York Post. "There was no going down on one knee — he doesn't have knees. But for the first time, I heard him speak," she said, according to the paper. "I could actually hear his voice, and it was beautiful. Deep, sexy and real." The couple are now choosing a ring but have not decided what kind it will be. Realm, supernaturally, is hoping her ring will have an amethyst in it, but she's leaving it to her spirit lover to decide. The couple plans to do a Pagan "hand fasting" ceremony, in which their hands are tied together, symbolizing their connection, she said. "It'll be somewhere in the English countryside. We haven't discussed the details yet, but I think it will be quite a big do." Realm says the ghost's energy is more feminine than a typical man but admits that, "if you're making love to a spirit, gender doesn't really come into it."
